If  there is something that I want to say
To you, the person reading this
Is that I really wish that you will be
More than happy, even fulfilled
About the day that has just passed
And the things you did, you tried
Maybe there were some mistakes
You can’t deny that there were
You’re just a human, don’t blame yourself
But you always have to strive to be better
Because you can’t remain still
It’s just not your nature, not to change
Change is something normal
Like the cry of a baby when it’s born
You may not feel it now, or, who knows
For a long time, time that you’ll not get back
But never deny it
That’s just how it’s meant to be, that’s life my friend